

RELATIONS OF UZBEKISTAN WITH INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

¹Mardonova

Mehrangiz

²Akhmadaliyeva

Nikholakhon

¹A student of TSUE

²Supervisor

Abstract: Uzbekistan, after gaining independence in 1991, started activities aimed at strengthening its position in the international arena and developing relations with the global community. Relations of the country with international organizations play an important role in its economic, social and political development. This article provides detailed information about Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations, their importance, development and future.

Key words: Uzbekistan, international organizations, UN, international organizations, investments, cooperation.

INTRODUCTION

Historically, relations of Uzbekistan with international organizations began after independence. As an independent country, Uzbekistan first of all became a member of the United Nations and tried to find its place in the international community. The UN serves as an important platform for Uzbekistan in the fields of international law, human rights and economic development. Uzbekistan participates in many social and economic programs of the UN, including the activities of the UN Development Program and the UN Human Rights Council.

MATERIALS AND METHODS

Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations also include initiatives aimed at solving regional and global problems. The country seeks to develop international cooperation to fight terrorism, drug trafficking and other threats. Uzbekistan is also expanding cooperation with international organizations in solving environmental problems, combating climate change and ensuring sustainable development. Relations of Uzbekistan with international organizations are an important part of its foreign policy. The country strives to implement strategies aimed at developing multilateral cooperation, ensuring economic and social development. Uzbekistan works through international organizations to expand its economic opportunities, open new markets and attract international investments. [1]

Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations such as the European Union, the Asian Development Bank, the Islamic Development Bank and the Shanghai Cooperation Organization greatly contribute to the economic and social development of the country. Relations with each organization have their own characteristics and are related to Uzbekistan's strategies aimed at solving global and regional problems. [2]

The United Nations plays an important role in Uzbekistan's international relations. Uzbekistan is implementing many projects in the fields of human rights, social stability and economic development through the UN. The United Nations Development Program is important in supporting the social and economic development of Uzbekistan. Within the framework of this program, Uzbekistan is implementing many projects in the fields of health care, education, agriculture and ecology. Cooperation with the UN Human Rights Council will help to implement Uzbekistan's initiatives aimed at the protection and development of human rights. Uzbekistan, together with the UN, strives to comply with its international obligations in the field of human rights.[3]

RESULTS AND DISCUSSIONS

Uzbekistan attaches great importance to the development of cooperation with the European Union. The European Union supports programs aimed at economic development of Uzbekistan, strengthening of democratic values and protection of human rights. Trade and economic relations between Uzbekistan and the European Union are becoming increasingly stronger. Uzbekistan, in cooperation with the European Union, is implementing a number of programs in the fields of trade, investment, education and culture. The European Union is implementing a number of programs to support the economic and social development of Uzbekistan.[4]

These programs are aimed at ensuring the economic stability of Uzbekistan, solving social problems and developing democratic values. The Asian Development Bank plays an important role in the economic development of Uzbekistan. The bank finances many projects in the fields of infrastructure development, agriculture, education and health care of Uzbekistan. Uzbekistan, in cooperation with the bank, is implementing programs aimed at ensuring economic stability and stimulating social development. The projects of the Asian Development Bank in Uzbekistan are important in ensuring the country's economic growth and stability. The bank helps to expand the economic opportunities of Uzbekistan, create new jobs and solve social problems. Islamic Development Bank is important in the economic development of Uzbekistan. The Bank helps to ensure the economic stability of the country by financing many projects in the agricultural, infrastructure and social sectors of Uzbekistan. Uzbekistan is implementing a number of programs in order to further expand cooperation with the Islamic Development Bank.[5]

The Islamic Development Bank is implementing a number of projects to support the economic development of Uzbekistan. These projects are aimed at ensuring the economic stability of Uzbekistan, solving social problems and developing international cooperation. The Shanghai Cooperation Organization plays an important role in the development of Uzbekistan's cooperation in the field of security and stability. The organization is implementing a number of initiatives in order to develop regional security, fight against terrorism and economic cooperation. Uzbekistan actively participates in programs aimed at solving regional problems within the framework of the organization. The Shanghai Cooperation Organization plays an important role in ensuring the security and stability of Uzbekistan. The organization ensures the active participation of Uzbekistan in programs aimed at ensuring regional security, fighting terrorism and developing economic cooperation. Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations are expected to develop further in the future. [6]

The country is striving to further strengthen relations with international organizations in connection with globalization processes and the strengthening of international cooperation. Uzbekistan is ready to use international experiences to ensure its economic and social development, to look for new opportunities for cooperation and to expand relations with international organizations. Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations also help to increase the country's reputation in the global arena. Uzbekistan is striving to achieve its goals by implementing strategies aimed at strengthening cooperation with international organizations.[7]

CONCLUSION

Relations of Uzbekistan with international organizations are important in its development. The country is implementing programs aimed at ensuring economic stability, solving social problems and ensuring international security by developing cooperation with international organizations. Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations also help to increase the country's reputation in the global arena. These relations will help to strengthen Uzbekistan's position in the international arena, stimulate its economic and social development. Uzbekistan is striving to achieve its goals by implementing strategies aimed at strengthening cooperation with international organizations. Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations are expected to expand and develop in the future, which will help strengthen the country's position in the global arena.

REFERENCES

1. Abdullaeva, D. (2022). Uzbekistan and international organizations: cooperation and development. Tashkent: National University of Uzbekistan.
2. Tashmurodov, S. (2023). International relations of Uzbekistan: historical and modern aspects. Tashkent: Science and technology.
3. Kholmiraev, A. (2021). International organizations and Uzbekistan: strategic cooperation. Tashkent: Economy and entrepreneurship.
4. Rakhmanov, B. (2023). Ways to develop Uzbekistan's relations with international organizations. Tashkent: Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Uzbekistan.
5. Saidova, N. (2020). Human rights and Uzbekistan: cooperation with the UN. Tashkent: National Human Rights Center of Uzbekistan.
6. Jumaniyazov, R. (2022). Relations of Uzbekistan with the European Union: prospects and problems. Tashkent: Delegation of the European Union to Uzbekistan.
7. Karimova, M. (2021). Uzbekistan and the Asian Development Bank: renewal of cooperation. Tashkent: Asian Development Bank Office of Uzbekistan.